Mega End Of The Organization: The National Association of Railroad Passengers’ “A Connected America” exists so that members, partners and travelers can benefit from a modern, multimodal transportation network that provides seamless mobility and fosters economic opportunity.

Sub Ends Of The Organization In Support Of The Mega End:

1) Regarding Infrastructure: A high-quality, integrated multimodal transportation network making travel safe, efficient and affordable, with an emphasis on passenger rail.

CEO Response:

a) NARP staff will put outreach campaigns in place designed to work toward by 2035, 80% of Americans will be within 25 miles of a rail station.

b) NARP staff will put outreach campaigns in place designed to work toward aggressive re-investment in critical infrastructure projects by federal, state, local and tribal governments to address safety concerns and jump-start growth.

c) NARP staff will create programs and initiatives to engage Amtrak, states, and MPOs to partner nationally in expanding intercity bus routes and direct intercity passenger train service to airports, especially international hubs, in order to unleash pent-up economic growth.

d) NARP staff will put outreach campaigns in place designed to work toward replacing today’s network with frequent service operated with modern locomotives and passenger cars, outfitted with modern amenities on a first-world transportation infrastructure.
